Kirsten Asdal

Kirsten Asdal is a China risk advisor for investors and corporations. Her specialty is interpreting how Communist Party political dynamics shape the landscape of corporate leverage, market access, and crisis risk for global businesses. She has a unique expertise in the security dynamics of cross-strait relations between China and Taiwan, having focused on Taiwan as a geopolitical flashpoint since 2013. Kirsten has lived and studied in Tianjin, Beijing, Suzhou, and Taipei. She maintains professional proficiency in Mandarin. Kirsten previously served as a naval officer in the U.S. Navy for ten years, operating ships in the western Pacific and advancing China/Taiwan.
