Michelle Dover

Michelle Dover is a Senior Fellow at the Bulletin of Atomic Scientists. She previously served in the U.S. Department of State as the Executive Director of the Secretary's International Security Advisory Board and Senior Advisor for Strategic Assessment. Prior to this, she held roles as director of programs at Ploughshares Fund and conducted cooperative threat reduction research at the James Martin Center for Nonproliferation Studies. She began her career as a Nonproliferation Graduate Fellow at the National Nuclear Security Administration, where she worked on International Atomic Energy Agency safeguards. Michelle holds a master's degree in conflict resolution from American University and graduated with honors from the University of Denver with a degree in international studies and French.